BICYCLE RACE, mile beats, best three in five, between the celebrated female bicyclist, Miss Elva Von Blumen, and the fleetest-running borse that can be found to compete with ber. This race will come off Tuesday the 28th of October, and the same day a second race be-tween Mi-s Von Bitmen and some fist-trotting horse, both of which she declares ber ability to beat. "Appearing in her giltter-ing and tight-fitting dress it is a sight worth beholding to see her astride her fleet courser and watch the rapid motion of her limbs as she whirls along on the wings of the wind." Those who have witnessed her performances at other fairs bear testimony to her skill as an equestrienne.

THE IMPORTANT QUESTION how to transport the lines of thousands of visitors to the Fair-Grounds was discussed by the committee at considerable length. This was justly regarded as a matter of paramount importance. The sentiment of the meeting was that, except some better means of transportation could be provided than those now offering there, would be great difficulty in getting a full attendance

So grave was this question deemed that of effective remedy we know a provide for a single hour.

The jailer "did a tale unfold" under the pleasant induction of the Commonwealth's attorney's cross-ques-tioning, whereupon, after argument of no considerable length or breadth, the case was submitted "to the country" on whom the prisoner had cast himself for deliverance. The country in this instance consisted mainly of twelve able-bodied grangers from the neighborhood of Pohick. They with commendable celerity, when their turn came, voted the accused guilty and attached a solourn of eight years in the penitentiary as the penalty of his malfeasance. Sentenced accordingly. The party being asked if he had anything to say promptly -replied, "It were de most un-lestis verdic he ever hearn." It is said that he had been in State's prison before. If so, eight years will not measure the term of his incarceration.
